Outline Description	Built in an elegant style of architecture, the church has a central belfry with three bells, and is embellished with the stone statues of St. Lucy, St. Claire and St. Paul.
Property Description	The interior feature of this church is its resemblance to the church of the Madonna of Victory, consisting of a barrel-vaulted ceiling. This church dates back to 1570, four years after the building of Valletta began. In 1740, the Bishop of Malta, Mgr. Paul Alpheran de Bussan (1728-1757), erected canonically in this church the Third Order of the Minims of St. Francis of Paola. Two small marble tablets placed on the wall recall the pious foundation of this sodality.
